Eligibility for IUPUI and IUPUC Study Abroad Programs

This page outlines the minimum requirements to participate on an IUPUI or IUPUC study abroad program. For programs administered through any other IU campus, please refer to the policies of the Office of Overseas Study at IU Bloomington.

Note that all study abroad programs have specific requirements in addition to those listed below. Those interested in studying abroad should review all program-specific eligibility requirements before applying as well. For each program this information is located under “Program Eligibility” in iAbroad.

Students at any IU campus (including IUPUI, IUPUC, and IPFW)
At the time of application, a student must be:

- At least 18 years of age
  - A student under 18 may apply for a program only if s/he will be 18 by the time the study abroad program begins
- Currently enrolled as a student at an IU campus (including IUPUI, IUPUC, and IPFW)
  - Note that some study abroad programs are open only to students at IUPUI and IUPUC – please refer to the program flyer in iAbroad for more information.
- In good academic standing with the university
  - This requires a minimum IU cumulative GPA of 2.0.
  - Depending on a student’s major, the minimum GPA (cumulative or semester) required for academic good standing may be higher. Students must be making satisfactory academic progress toward their degree. Please check with your academic advisor for more information.
- Not currently on disciplinary probation
  - If you’re unsure if you’re on disciplinary probation, please contact the IUPUI Dean of Student’s Office.
- Students must not have any holds in the IU system that prevent course registration during the term(s) of the study abroad program.

If you are unsure whether you meet the requirements above, please contact the IUPUI Study Abroad Office (abroad@iupui.edu).
Incoming Transfer Students at an IU campus
Incoming transfer students who meet all program-specific eligibility requirements may apply to an IUPUI or IUPUC study abroad program after their first semester at an IU campus begins. Please contact the IUPUI Study Abroad Office for questions regarding the eligibility of transfer students.

Students at Other Colleges and Universities
Students from other accredited universities may apply to participate on a limited number of IUPUI and IUPUC programs for academic credit. To be eligible, a student must be in good academic and disciplinary standing with their home university. Note that most programs that allow students from other universities to apply give preference to IU, IUPUI, IUPUC, and IPFW students. Please contact the IUPUI Study Abroad Office for assistance in finding programs open to non-IU students.

Non-Students
Members of the community, or “community participants,” may apply to participate on a limited number of IUPUI and IUPUC programs. Community participants do not earn academic credit and must pay applicable program costs. Note that most programs that allow community participants give preference to IU, IUPUI, IUPUC, and IPFW students. Family and friends of students going on the program are generally not eligible to travel with a program and/or participate in program activities. Please contact the IUPUI Study Abroad Office with questions (abroad@iupui.edu).
